Press Release Summary: The Hamtramck Idea Men are seeking advertisers for their comic books.

Press Release Body:
Hamtramck, Michigan,
December 3, 2007 - The Hamtramck Idea Men, George McVey and Michael Marcus, having successfully produced issues of both of their flagship titles, IF-X and PULP DREAMS, are now seeking people to advertise in their books; selling from their website and more than a dozen retail outlets in the tri-state area, their readership is international, covering three continents. The books alternate each month, providing a constant source of new entertainment.

Chief Promotional Officer Michael Marcus sees advertising as a way to finance the stories and take production to the next level. "With a starting price of only $200 per page per issue, a $1000 per year per title, we are already attracting local attention, but our audience is all over the country. Corporate sponsors should take note of this."

Hamtramck Idea Men is a creative arts partnership whose projects run the gamut from comics to fine arts, also offering professional creative services, as required. For further information, please contact Michael Marcus at michael@idea-men.us or by phone at (313) 368-0791.
