She's never been shy about her achievements, and Aisleyne Horgan-Wallace now has a lot more to be proud of.

Now a published author, everyone's favourite Big Brother glamour girl has sought help from The Hospital Group cosmetic surgeons to boost her profile – with a breast enlargement, more commonly known as a boob job.

Aisleyne, who has recently turned 30, said: "You hear of people booking in for surgery and not getting the look they wanted, and that was me before.

"I just wanted to get the shape sorted out. My boobs were sitting quite far apart so I wanted something which gave me much more of a cleavage.

"I definitely don't want them massive like Jordan or super-pert like Victoria Beckham, just something natural which is going to look good in a dress."

Aisleyne turned to the UK's leading surgery provider to improve the shape and size of her D-cups, which were increased to an E by the surgeon at the Bromsgrove-based exclusive clinic.

The Hospital Group, the leading uk cosmetic surgery provider, perform a wide range of aesthetic procedures in 19 specialist clinics across the
