

Next-Generation Computer Defense System

The logo for Horizon, featuring the word "Horizon" in a serif font with a stylized orange and white arch above the letter 'i'.

Released on: June 24, 2009, 8:21 am

Author: Kensaku Miyake

Industry: Computers

Horizon offers next-generation technologies to guard the system of the customer.

These next-generation technologies of Horizon are different from existing security technologies. There are not yet these technologies in U.S.A., EU, and Japan. In addition, Horizon will intend to offer new technologies and applications about "Ubiquitous" in sequence. From all over the world, Horizon will suggest only new technologies to do excess of existing technology. In addition, all these technologies consigns system test to "the technically authoritative third person organization" strictly.

This program is gross size 1.43 kbytes, and the changing quantity is really a very small program of 292 bytes.

The masking system is in particular security software of a totally new type to overturn the conventional common sense that there is not in U.S.A., EU, Japan either.

It has been never exceeded so far by any hackers.

Contact Details: <http://www.usa-horizon.com>