One of the tragedies of drug addiction is that so many individuals struggle to overcome their substance abuse issues only to relapse after release from the addiction clinic. Vista Bay drug rehab centers identified this problem early on and designed their addiction treatment program with the goal of being the "permanent solution to addiction." Given the high failure and relapse rates at many rehab clinics, this was an ambitious goal, but by employing individualized treatment programs and holistic treatment developed by Narconon, drug free recovery for life is within reach. Vista Bay rehab is so confident in the effectiveness of its program that it offers patients an additional 30 days of treatment should they relapse within six months of graduation.

February, 2010 - Not many things in life come with a guarantee, and drug addiction treatment is probably among the most unlikely candidates. Drug addiction is notoriously difficult to overcome (watch any documentary on the life of a drug addict and the video will confirm the many obstacles these people face) and recovering addicts face a high likelihood of relapse. Many people are in and out of clinics so frequently they may as well be considered serial patients. The aim of Vista Bay drug rehab centers is to tackle the deficiencies inherent with traditional addiction treatment programs and give recovering addicts the tools and support they need to stay clean -not just for a few weeks, but for life. The vistabay holistic addiction treatment programs have been developed over 40 years and they are proven to be highly effective in not only overcoming drug or alcohol addiction, but in preventing relapse. In fact, Vista Bay Rehab backs its program with an offer of an additional 30 days of treatment if any of the graduates suffers a relapse within six months of graduating.

Rather than relying on 12 step programs and drug treatments that are the core of many other clinics, patients at Vista Bay drug rehab centers go through a drug-free withdrawal phase, detoxification, therapeutic training and then complete a series of courses designed to provide them with the life and coping skills needed to survive in the real world without turning to substance abuse. Testimonial from graduates of VistaBay, whether written or posted as video attest to the effectiveness of Narconon's approach.

A.S., a 2003 graduate says: "I matured more in the few months that I was at Narconon than I did in the previous 5 years. I now have dreams and goals again. I wake up excited about living each day and knowing that drugs won't be there." M.O., a 1997 graduate adds: "I now have goals and I am ready to pursue them without the use of drugs. I now have the tools to confront my addiction, the knowledge to help others to confront theirs, and the desire to live my life my way, as a responsible, caring individual..."

Narconon has been at the forefront of drug and alcohol addiction prevention and recovery for over 40 years. Through the world renowned Vista Bay Rehab facilities, all natural, holistic addiction treatment programs have helped thousands of graduates to not only successfully overcome their substance abuse issues, but go on to lead a drug free life.
