CQout, international online market place and auction community, has set its sights on enticing new sellers who are currently trading elsewhere to sign up and list their inventory, by offering free online shop fronts.

Following on closely from its 10th anniversary celebrations and a series of expansion plans into America, CQout has announced that it is offering free ShopFronts to sellers with 100 or more items in order to entice them onto the network and experience the many benefits which the community has to offer.

The new offer means that any seller who joins up with CQout and lists more than 100 items will be offered a free ShopFront for one year worth £114 (£97 +VAT). Sellers can also use any of CQout's four bulk upload facilities to list their items, along with a wide range of bulk upload tools like the CQout Auto-Sync which is designed to make the process as quick and painless as possible.

Auto-Sync is a new technology which has recently been introduced by CQout which aims to take away all the administrative chores experienced by sellers, allowing them to devote their time to servicing both their sales and their customers. Auto-Sync takes data automatically from a seller's own website to create a professional-looking auction listing on CQout.

This new offer forms part of CQout's plans to take on the other major online auction sites. To this end CQout has firmly set its sights onto disaffected eBay sellers by listening to what customers and sellers are actually saying in order to ensure the user experience of CQout meets their needs.

Siamak Bashi, CQout Managing Director commented: "The most important factor for Sellers to gain success is to have a large inventory listings for sale - the more sellers have listed, the more likely are the chances of buyers finding what they want therefore making sales. Our bulk upload facilities and now this free ShopFront offer is our way of helping Sellers become successful."
